A REPLAY OF THE 80'S

In the late 80's when the big hair, bright colors, and spandex were going out of style, nobody knew they would soon make a comeback. The song of fashion seems to be playing on repeat and we are finding ourselves in crazy prints and Vans. Of course we have put a unique, modern spin on these fashions turning them from old school to fresh and cool.

Our Varsity basketball team is all decked out in their team sweats, ready to get on the plane to state.

We all know Gucci is way expensive, but look what they charge for a pair of BABY shoes!

YOU PAID WHAT FOR THOSE SHOES??

Designed by fashion designer Roger Vivier, these shoes were made specially for Princess Soraya, the widow of the late Shah of Iran.

Owned by Outkast's Antwan "Big Boi" Patton, these aren't your every day basketball shoes. The logo, known as the Nike "swoosh" is outlined with 11 carat diamonds.
