

Photographer List

Alfred Eisenstaedt: A famous photojournalist. Including the most famous parade photo of all time.	Ansel Adams: A master of black and white photography mostly landscapes. Probably, the most famous photographer of all time.
Annie Leibowitz: Celebrity photographer who used to work with the Rolling Stones.	Anne Geddes: Modern art type baby portrait photographer. You have probably seen lots of her stuff on calendars.
Art Wolfe: Current and very popular Nature Photographer	Richard Avedon: Celebrity photographer including some Marilyn Monroe.
Jeff Ascough: He is an internationally acclaimed for his black &amp; white wedding photography. His style of working has been imitated by beginners in the field of wedding photography. Jeff Ascough has worked with TV celebrities, footballers, musicians, film producers and many others.	Jim Brandenburg: Wildlife Photographer, won photographer of the year a number of times. Created a series of stamps for the post office.
Margaret Bourke-White: Pioneering woman photojournalist. Photographed Gandhi hours before his assassination.	Robert Capa: Reckless war photographer,. Also started a cool photography society.
Douglas Kirkland: Celebrity Photographer	Galen Rowell: Adventure Photographer, quite modern. Possibly challenging to find info on.
Henry Carter Bresson: Set many standards of photography that other still follow today.	Mike Hollingshead: Incredible Storm/Nature photographer
Irving Penn This American photographer was known for his chic and elegant frames especially post World War II. part of the 'Vogue' magazine, where he employed techniques such as the use of white or gray backdrops	Terence Donovan fashion photography in the '60s. With a flair for adventure, it was reflected in his work when his models had to accomplish daredevil stunts for a pretty picture! became a most sought after celebrity photographer as well.
Frans Lanting: A popular name for magazines like the 'National Geographic', 'Life' and 'Outdoor Photographer'. Having traveled to various places, an inclination towards the flora and fauna of the tropical rainforests	Eddie Adams: Recipient of the Pulitzer award and over 500 prizes to his credit. Adams was a known figure for his portraits of celebrities, politicians and wars.